

New additional product

Zecher printing cylinders

From now on, Zecher also offers its customers worldwide printing cylinders for all types of machines. The Zecher printing cylinder is intended to complete the product portfolio so that all customers can be reliably supported at a high quality level in their printing press environment.

The fast delivery times will also ensure a smooth process in the customers' companies. Due to its lightweight construction, the Zecher printing cylinder will provide handling advantages.

Thomas Reinking (Head of Sales and Marketing) says: "We are proud to be able to offer our customers another Zecher product worldwide, with a very good value for money." The Zecher sales team is available at any time for individual advice.
